

Elisabeth Hagen, M.D.

Principal, Elisabeth Hagen PLLC

Former Under Secretary for Food Safety, USDA

As the former Under Secretary for Food Safety at the US Department of Agriculture (USDA), Dr. Hagen oversaw food safety policy for the US meat and poultry industries and advanced major reforms and consumer protections. She currently works with organizations to understand the changing food safety landscape and resultant growth opportunities.

She also served as a Principal in the White House Food Safety Working Group. Prior to her appointment as Under Secretary, Dr. Hagen led epidemiology and science programs at the USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service. After leaving the USDA, Dr. Hagen was a Senior Advisor at Deloitte. Dr. Hagen earned her M.D. from Harvard Medical School and is specialty trained in internal medicine and infectious disease.